LITTLE BOY'S SUDDEN DEATH

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Avery Reed Victim of Heart Trouble.

John Green, the nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Reed, died Friday afternoon March 22. The little fellow had been in very delicate health for a long time being affected with heart trouble and also having had an attack of scarlet fever some weeks ago. He had a lovable disposition and many are the friends who sympathize with his parents in their bereavement. The remains were taken to Paducah Saturday morning. Services being conducted by Rev. Virgil Elgin. Interment took place at Paducah cemetery Sunday at 2 o'clock.

John Reed, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Avery Reed, formerly of Paducah, died at Marion, Ky., late Friday afternoon of heart trouble. The body will arrive in Paducah this afternoon and be taken to the home of his grandmother, Mrs. P. G. Reed, 532 North Seventh street, where the funeral will be Sunday morning. The interment will be at the Oak Grove cemetery.

The bright little lad had been in ill health for several weeks. Mr. Reed is an expert mining engineer and is in charge of mines near Sturgis. He has been making his home in Marion.—Paducah News Democrat.

Hunting Gold and Lions.

Messrs. L. E. Harpending and C. E. Radcliff were taken over to Oil City camp on Sunday by B. Hopkins with full camping outfit and left to shirk for themselves. While camping they will lie for mountain lion, and if the animal comes within rifle range he will get the Kentucky shot. But the king of Rocky Mountain forests is well onto those tricks of the gun, and it's doubtful if he allows himself to be a victim. We wish them success, however, for do not care to meet the beast in our rambles thru the hills.—Turrentt, Colo., Gold Belt.

Providence News.

George Floyd has opened a new butcher shop in the Wynn building on Main street. He has secured the services of Herbert Morris, of Marion, who is an experienced meat cutter, to run the shop.

Mr. John Montgomery returned Tuesday from Marion after a visit to his sister, Mrs. J. B. Kevil. It will be painful to Mrs. Kevil's many friends here to know that she has been an invalid several months and that her health is not improving.

Rev. E. J. Simpson, colored, of this city, left last week for Springfield, Mo., to accept the pastorate of the C. P. church of that place at a handsome salary. The reverend Simpson is one of the most prominent colored divines in the South and has done much for the uplifting of his race.—Providence Enterprise.

K. I. S. S. Club.

Saturday afternoon the K. I. S. S. club met at the residence of Miss Madeline Jenkins. After the guests were all assembled a beautiful duet was rendered by Misses Madeline Jenkins and Gwendoline Haynes. After that a "Buster Brown" contest was enjoyed by all the prize being won by Miss Gwendoline Haynes.

Delightful refreshments were then served, which consisted of orange ice and cake. The quartette then sang a very pretty song, which was appreciated by all. After making the appointments for the next meeting, which was to take place at the residence of Miss Katie Yates, the guests then departed, each saying they spent a most pleasant evening.

Infant Died Sunday Night.

Died at the home of his parents in Kuttawa, Ky., just after midnight, last Sunday night Charles William Black, son of Clarence Black and Willie Black age eighteen months and four days. He was a very bright lovable child and was a great pet especially with his grand-parents. He was sick for a number of days, and every thing was done for the little fellow that love and skill could do, God claimed him as his own. He quietly and peacefully fell asleep in the arms of Jesus. His funeral was conducted by Rev. Oliver at the home. A large company of relatives and friends were present, and followed the remains to the cemetery, where amid song and flowers the precious little body was laid to rest. Brother and sister Black have the sympathy of entire community in their sore affliction. May they be able to say, "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away," "His will be done."—Lyon County Times.

The many friends here of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Black, will read the above with much regret.

A Marion Boy's Trip to the West Indies.

E. D. Gray, who recently went to Porto Rico to deal in lumber in the thriving city of San Juan, writes back to his parents here the most interesting accounts of his trip to the West Indies from New York. Altho he shipped the lumber from Mobile he was compelled to go by rail from New York to take passage.

With oranges grape fruit, bananas and other tropical fruits hanging ripe and ready to be plucked on every side and flowers growing and blooming in profusion, the tropics indeed seems to him to be a paradise on earth and to say he is delighted expresses it but mildly.

R. H. Thomas Announces.

R. H. Thomas, of Sheridan, is a candidate for Assessor, to fill on the unexpired term of T. Anthony Davidson, subject to the action of the Republican party. He endorses prohibition and will make a good assessor. He is a brother of mail carrier Jas. Thomas, Prof. Chas. Thomas and Rev. A. E. Thomas, of Oraville, Ill.

A Promised Treat.

The concert, which the Choral Society will give under the directions of Prof. Von Tobel, of Henderson, promises to be a most enjoyable treat. They will be assisted by a male quartette of Henderson, and by Miss Tommy Lyle Waller, of Morgantown, who will render several vocal selections. Prof. Von Tobel will play several instrumental selections, which alone will be worth the price of admission.

Date of concert will be announced later.

Tackwell-Boone

March 17 Mr. Ernest Tackwell and Miss Lillie Boone drove to Rev. Paris' and were united in the holy bonds of matrimony.

Mr. Tackwell is the second son of M. J. Tackwell, of near Enon, and is a man of high character.

Miss Boone is the second daughter of Mr. Jim Boone, of near Piney Creek. She is a beautiful young lady and numbers her friends by the score.

They will make their future home near Enon. Their many friends wish them a long and happy life.

A FRIEND.

Easter Egg Hunt.

The Missionary Society of the Methodist church will give an Easter Egg Hunt for the children at Mr. H. A. Haynes' residence Saturday, March 30 at 3 o'clock p. m. Admission 10 cents.

Rev. Jas. F. Price, who has been assisting in a meeting in Southern Indiana, will return home and preach next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and evening at 7 o'clock at the Cumberland church.

Moore-Mitchell

Mr. E. B. Moore, of Tolu, and Miss Nettie Mitchell, of Salem, were married Wednesday, March 20, 1907, at 2 o'clock at the home of the bride and immediately left for Tolu to visit the groom's brother, Mr. Burnett Moore.

Miss Mitchell, although not generally known here, was well liked by all who knew her.

Mr. Moore is the son of Mr. Elvis Moore, of this city, and has many friends who extend congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore will go to housekeeping soon near Tolu.

The RECORD-PRESS extends best wishes.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

The guests from Marion who attended the fiftieth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Hodge, of Princeton, Monday evening, give us a glowing description of the reception. Quite a large crowd was present to extend congratulations. The color scheme of gold and white was carried out throughout the house, in the beautiful floral decorations and yellow candles, which lent a delicate tint to the surroundings. The colors were also carried out in the delightful refreshments, which were served in the dining room. The dining table was covered by a beautiful drawwork center piece with a large cut glass vase of bride's roses in the center and cut glass dishes of gold and white mints.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodge received a great many handsome presents of almost every thing suitable to the occasion, also telegrams and letters of congratulations were received.

The Quarterly Conference will be held Monday evening, Apr. 1.

Poisoned Beef Works Havoc.

Leavenworth, Kan., March 23.—More than 1,000 veterans at the National Soldiers' Home here, are suffering from ptomaine poisoning, the result of eating meat hash for breakfast this morning. No deaths were reported at a late hour.

The first symptoms of the trouble was manifested several hours after breakfast. Soon the home hospital was crowded with sick veterans and ambulances were rushed in from the barracks with loads of them.

Walter Burns Moves Again.

Tuesday, on the Joe Fowler, the household goods of the new barber, Mr. Walter Burns, arrived and Mr. and Mrs. Burns began putting their rooms in order at once. They have rooms in the Zenone property. The Boys' Brigade.

We copy the following from the Brigader, the official journal of the organization. The Boys' League of the M. E. Church, of this city, is an auxiliary to the National League, was organized some time ago and has a large membership. H. D. Pollard is Superintendent, Ira Sutherland, President; Herschel Ramage, Vice-President; Harry Steele, Secretary; Lucien Walker, Treasurer.

The Boys' Brigade is a military organization, started and maintained in Christian churches in all parts of the world for the purpose of interesting the youths and young men in the cause of Christian Manliness.

It has for its motto the following: "The advancement of Christ's Kingdom among boys and the promotion of habits of obedience, reverence, discipline, self-respect and all that tends toward true Christian manliness."

When a boy becomes a member of the Boys' Brigade, he assumes certain duties towards the church such as promise to try attend as much church and Sunday-school services as possible. He also incurs certain obligations on the cause of temperance and kindred habits are restricted, if not entirely abandoned.

Most of the boys cheerfully subscribe to these conditions and the records of the organization shows that thousands of youths have been changed from pernicious habits in early life, to cleanly, pure and high-minded men. Even such as do not join the church are given a new impetus and aside from the spiritual advantages they may gain, are benefitted physically and morally, in a general sense.

How is this accomplished with growing youths, subject to luring temptations of the world, is often asked.

Largely thru the military features—is the undoubted answer. And by military features, is not meant an appeal to the military or savage portion of a boy's nature. There is, of course, the inherent facination of a uniform, brass buttons and parade,—all that goes to awaken pride in a boy. The martial spirit of the drill and marching, the habits of attention of striving to accomplish some end, of aspiring to a position of command all enter the boy's love of the occupation and lead him to sense of personal responsibility in an organization that is akin to the great military organization of the world.

The Boys' Brigade, while it does not belittle the military spirit, does not try to encourage the fighting spirit of the boy. It is used more as a means to an end, and in reaching that end, teaches the boy self command, self respect and ability to command others.

It also teaches a boy that Christ came as a messenger of peace.

What has been the history of this organization that has its branches in nearly all parts of the world?

It was started in Glasgow, Scotland, in 1883, by W. A. Smith, an citizen of that city, who became deeply interested in the welfare of the boys of Glasgow and saw void in the church methods of the day so far as attracting youths was concerned. Prof. Henry Drummond, the distinguished English Scholar, became interested and loaned the great influence of his personality and ability to advancing the organization.

The work spread with great rapidity to the south Scotland, and then into England and to the world's greatest metropolis LONDON.

The control of the boy in the Sunday-School had become a serious problem, and was felt there must be some agency that could be employed to get the boy's interest and sympathy. The military caught them at once—by holding his attention. The cap and haversack took his eye. It made him distinctive from other boys. Perhaps there was an element of vanity in the fascination, but it was the kind of vanity that makes a boy or man take pride in himself and makes manly men. And so the organization spread. Strangely enough in invaded America by the way of San Francisco. That was about fourteen years ago, and now it may be said to have literally "circled the globe." Chicago became its stronghold, and then Pittsburg, bow one of the most enthusiastic cities in this work, caught fire. It became the central headquarters for the organization in America, and is so today. Thanks largely to the interest of the moneyed men of that city. The Boys' Brigade is growing ever year and is destined to grow.

It was 13 years ago that the work was first inaugurated in Philadelphia. An isolated company was formed at the Oxford Presbyterian Church, and about the same time Rev. Llewellyn N. Caley, of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Nativity, started a company in that church. Dr. Caley has been engaged in the work in London prior to that, and came here fired with enthusiasm. A year later the Pennsylvania State organization was formed in Philadelphia, and so it has spread, until today there are about 6,000 members of the Boys' Brigade in Pennsylvania thru the official records do not show those figures, owing to the failure of the individual organizations to make careful reports to the State officers. But they are all working along similar lines and are spreading the principles the Boys' Brigade stands for in section.

Other states are progressing equally as well and now that the organization has overcome certain unwarranted prejudices of some churches, great success is predicted for it. Strange to say, a spirit of conservatism in some churches has and does still stand in the way of the Boys' Brigade work. Some preachers, not understanding or appreciating its object fear it is an encouragement of the warlike nature rather than teaching of the gospel of peace. Others think the movement lacks spirituality but if they could see the real good accomplished in the uplifting of boys who would never otherwise become interested in churches and Christian work, they would no doubt hail the movement as one of the best solutions yet discovered of the problem of saving boys' souls.

One of the leading officers of the organization at its recent National Convention, very aptly summed up its objects as follows:

"The Boys' Brigade is a military organization to hold the boys' interest in the Church by means of the military features. We believe in doing everything well and as hard as we know how."

To encourage the boys in living up to their pledges, "service stripes" are given for two years' faithful service, instead of for three years, as is required in the National Guard. In Pennsylvania Keystone medals are also awarded for points of service. One thousand are necessary to get the bronze medals and six years of service, with 1,000 marks for each, are rewarded with a silver medal. The points are given for regular attendance at church and Sunday-school and at drill exercise, etc.

Out in Pittsburg, Company G, Third Regiment, which is popularly known as the "Bope Company," in honor of the Commander-in-Chief, Lieutenant General Bope, who formerly was its popular captain, has a membership of 130 boys, and a long waiting list. The members are required to report every drill night and so anxious are the boys to retain their membership in this company that they never miss a meeting unless it is absolutely impossible to be present.

There are nineteen companies in the Third Regiment. Philadelphia's First Regiment has not quite so many companies but they are filling rapidly and the Quaker City promises to give her western rival a sharp race for her reputation.

It's a pleasure to tell our readers about a Cough Cure like Dr. Shoop's. For years Dr. Shoop has fought against Opium, Chloroform, or other unsafe ingredients commonly found in Cough remedies. Dr. Shoop it seems, has welcomed the Pure Food and Drug Law recently enacted, for he has worked along similar lines for many years. For nearly 20 years Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure containers have had a warning printed on them against Opium and other narcotic poisons. He has thus made it possible for mothers to protect their children by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Sold by Haynes & Taylor.

American Women Can Have Suffrage When They Want It

By MRS. DORE LYON.

MRS. DORE LYON.

When the American woman wants the suffrage she will get it. Of that there has never been any doubt in the minds of either men or women. She has not proved herself invincible on so many points in which she has felt a really vital interest in order to acknowledge that the procuring of equal suffrage is an impossible task!

But the day seems not to have arrived! Now and then we hear of a determined effort on the part of a few advanced women to influence legislation in this regard, and at the same time of a strong attempt of women who think themselves equally advanced to prevent any such legislation!

Men like feminine women, and are very jealous and grow more so of the rights which custom and the laws have accorded them in the past, and they will not passively accept any infringement by the weaker sex upon those rights. The slow but certain advance of woman in every field hitherto pre-empted by men is recognized and acknowledged. But to only a comparatively small number of women has been given the insight into the future. They are the advance guard, the pioneers. To them the working out of a universal suffrage is clear, but they are only a few, and although earnest and faithful to the cause, must needs make haste slowly with quiet and dignity.

They realize that they must first educate the women to want the suffrage before they begin the education of men, and unlike the English suffragettes they are working quietly but continually. Possibly they realize that when woman herself is converted to suffrage that will be the end of the battle. The pure food bill, child labor laws and other great movements prove the extent of woman's power when she is really interested. As to the merits of equal suffrage, can there be any doubt upon the question? The only wonder is that man the just, man the logical, does not voluntarily confer the suffrage, at least upon women who are tax payers; that he, the mighty maker of laws, is content to accept money for the purpose of maintaining the state, county and city without giving the unrecognized but equally taxed feminine taxpayer a voice in the selection of the officials who shall administer the vast sums which she contributes!

Italian's View of Love in America

By IL CONTE OTTAVIO.

Concerning love, the American has the most extravagant theories that have ever been conceived by the brain of man. First of all, he believes he can with impunity do without love, or at least that its impulses can be regulated, just as Niagara is harnessed to produce motive power. Some young men in America confess that they think of their sweethearts only on Sunday afternoons, when they are free from business, after three o'clock, while others assert that they are yet too poor to think of love, that they will fall in love and willingly marry in three, four or five years, when their capital shall have reached some stated figure, not a cent more, not a cent less. Conversation among men is therefore most chaste, out of deliberate prudence.

Then, the American gravely believes his lady, to be like himself, that is to say, loyally exact in waxing enthusiastic about the three years, and not about the two and three-quarters; able to await without impatience that given year and that given month in which he, according to his astronomical and financial calculations, has decided to wed her.

He is willing that in the interval she shall travel in Europe with a friend or two, for he is so thoroughly convinced of the absolute superiority of the American over every other man in the world that a more or less protracted distraction on the part of his fiancée with a Frenchman or with an Italian, with a Spaniard or with an Austrian, seems to him just as impossible as a flirtation on his own part with a negress, and even if possible, at any rate temporary and harmless.

Even when in America, the American woman keeps many strings to her bow, under the inoffensive name of "flirts," waiting to choose at the opportune moment and after suitable experience, the richest man, the strongest man, etc. The others are cast aside.

Love must be treated in a business-like way, not in the sense of profiting by it, for chasers of dowries are rare in America, but in the sense that it should be dispatched rapidly and should not cause the loss of too much time. What method is swifter than advertising? A letter dropped into the post, an appointment, a few calls, an engagement, presents, marriage—above all many presents.

The Toy-Land of the World

By FERDINAND STRAUSS.

The notion that there is less Christmas sentiment among children than there used to be is disproved by the fact that 20 per cent. more toys have been sold this year in the United States than were sold in 1905.

The cosmopolitan make-up of America has made it the toy-land of the world, not alone in the number but in the variety of toys manufactured. For instance, every German-born child must have a miniature Santa Claus; the Italian-born child demands a doll dressed as some brave Paladin, and the English-born child is not content without its Punch and Judy.

The native American child, however, imperatively demands novelty in its toys. Mechanical toys are in greatest demand, and $5,000,000 worth of such toys have been manufactured in America this year.

Christmas is the hardest time in all the year to supply the American child with toys. On any other anniversary he is willing to accept an ordinary plaything, but when Christmas comes he demands something entirely new and surprising. He cares nothing for lay figures; his dolls must move or show some kind of action. One little chap in one store exclaimed on looking at some pretty but rather old-fashioned toys: "Santa Claus didn't finish them; he forgot to put the walk in."

And so it is. Children in America who have arrived at the age of five or even four have been so pampered in their toys that they demand that old Santa Claus put the "walk" in, and it keeps the old gentleman busy indeed inventing new and catchy playthings.

EASTON'S PLANT WORN OUT.

Run-down Machinery and Dark Streets. Appeal to Corporations.

Easton, Pa., is one of the cities that, having tried municipal ownership of lighting plants, have found it wanting. In a recent message to the city council Mayor March said that, although he is a believer in the theory of city ownership, nevertheless he would "prefer to hand over the city lighting to private corporations rather than see large districts in darkness, as has often been the case in the last six months."

Continuing, he characterized this as "dangerous from the police point of view" and unbearable from the citizen's, adding that if the city continues to operate the plant it "must be run as a private corporation would run it." There should not only be economy, but the machinery should be constantly repaired and renewed, both for efficiency and "to keep up with modern progress in electric lighting."

Much of the machinery being almost worn out, he advises that arrangements be made to borrow current from a local company in case of breakdown that the city streets may not be kept in darkness while repairs are going on. He does not say what he would advise were municipal ownership complete and there were no private companies.

Built in 1886, the construction cost of Easton's electric light plant to date has been about $70,000. In a summary of the situation the Sunday Call, which appears originally to have favored the enterprise, says the plant isn't satisfactory and the city hasn't the money to renew it. The companies must now be asked to put in bids for city lighting. The Call thinks they can furnish it cheaper than the city can itself. Easton's lighting experiment, the paper adds, "has been costly and unsatisfactory." The city was bound to establish the plant, and now that it is worn out and almost useless the debt remains.

Nothing has ever been charged up for depreciation, but the people were told that this was unnecessary, as the plant was being kept in good repair. Fifty thousand dollars was spent in "patching up" the plant, but the statement that it was kept in good order is now proved untrue, and so is the statement that the cost was less than a private corporation would have charged for the same service, though many people believed both statements for a time.

According to a special to the New York Times, women and children are not considered safe on Easton's streets at night, and sixty firms and business men have petitioned that the street lighting be turned over to a private corporation at once.

THE FUNNY SIDE OF M. O.

Politics in City Departments—A Queer Veto—City Poles Downed.

Public Service is not a humorous publication, but there were some funny items in its December issue. Commenting on the proposition of the Business Men's club of Cincinnati that civil service rules should be introduced into the municipal department, Mr. Miller, a member of the board of public service, is quoted as saying, "I think the first requisite for a good official is that he should be a good Democrat."

The mayor of Bluffton, Ind., is more subtly humorous. He advocates municipal ownership as an antidote for monopoly and then vetoes a franchise for a gas plant because it would compete with the municipal electric light works and "probably would reduce the city's $10,000 plant to a mass of junk." This is rather more than a tacit admission that the consumers are paying through the nose.

But the funniest thing of all is that some of the citizens of Chicago had to go to law to compel the city electrical department to obey its own laws. Because such construction is much cheaper this department undertook to erect poles in a district where the ordinances require wires to be placed underground. The citizens appealed to the department to protect them from what they assumed to be the intrusion of a private company. Instead of being alarmed their indignation was rather increased when they learned their mistake, and they did not stop until the city council passed an ordinance requiring the removal of the poles.

Municipal Wages in England.

As the result of an application from employees for an increase of wages, the Salford (England) tramways committee has recommended to the municipality, which owns and operates the line, that the wages of conductors be raised to 17 cents per hour on appointment, 12 cents per hour after one year of service and 13 cents per hour after three years of service. Another municipality advertises for a car shed night foreman at $9 per week.—Electrical World.

Ashtabula's Disastrous Experience.

The city council of Ashtabula, O., recently passed an ordinance directing that the municipal electric light plant be sold to the highest bidder. The plant began operations in 1892. The construction cost exceeding $88,000, of which $50,000 is regarded as a total loss owing to the plant having been allowed to run down. Although operated on moonlight schedule, the average cost of arc lights has been in excess of $100 a year.

When to Knock the M. O. Idea.

A good time to knock the foolishness of municipal ownership out of a man is when he is about to step into the tax collector's office. He can then see what would happen to him if he became a joint owner in the whole thing.—Exchange.

The Deception of Distance.

"It's very deceptive to judge of the size or capacity of an object which is fifty feet or more in the air," said an architect to the writer as we were passing the royal courts of justice a few days ago. "Now, look at that clock," pointing to the law courts clock, which hangs about seventy feet above the pavement. "It looks very small, doesn't it? Hardly big enough to hold a man. Yet a party of us breakfasted in the case before the works were put in." Everybody knows how deceptive is the appearance of the Westminster clock. Looking at the dial from the embankment or from Great George street, it seems as if a man of medium size could easily stretch across the dial with both arms. Yet it would take four pairs of outstretched arms to cross it. The minute hand, which looks like an ordinary walking stick, is longer than the two tallest soldiers in the life guards. The figures on the dial are bigger than a three-year-old child, and the second dots are as big as a dinner plate.—London Graphic.

Rising From the Grave

A prominent manufacturer, Wm. A. Feltwell, of Lucama, N. C., relates a most remarkable experience. He says: "After taking less than three bottles of Electric Bitters, I feel like one rising from the grave. My trouble is Bright's disease, in the Diabetes stage. I fully believe Electric Bitters will cure me permanently, for it has already stopped the liver and bladder complications which have troubled me for years." Guaranteed at Haynes & Taylor's druggist, Price only 50c.

The Beaumont soap factory at Mayfield which made the only soap mentioned in the Bible "Fuller soap" was burned Saturday morning. The plant has had an unusual unfortunate career. It cost $48,000.00 and was sold recently for $4,000.00 at time of fire there was $5,000.00 insurance on it.

Rheumatic Pains Relieved

B. F. Crocker, Esq., now 48 years of age, and for twenty years Justice of the peace at Martinsburg, Iowa, says: "I am terribly afflicted with sciatic rheumatism in my left arm and right hip. I have used three bottles of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it did me lots of good. For sale by J. H. Orme the leading druggist in western Ky."

ANTHRACITE COAL FOUND

Sensational Discovery Report to Have Been Made.

Cairo, Ill., March 18.—The discovery of a 5-foot vein of anthracite coal has been made within three miles of Marion, 110 feet down in the shaft of the Spilertown Coke & Coal company. The coal is declared to be equal in every respect to the finest Pennsylvania grade.

Test made by Mr. Wilkerson, president of the company, and an expert minerologist with an international reputation, show that the coke from the coal runs in fixed carbon 95.15. The coal shows a run of thermal units of 12.26. These great figures indicate that the coal is the finest on the continent, besides containing a high grade of neutral tar and ammonia.

The test have been carried on with the greatest secrecy. In the meantime the mining rights on the thousands of acres in the vicinity have been secured.

Wise Council From the South

"I want to give some valuable advice to those who suffer with lame back and kidney trouble," says J. R. Blankinship, of Beck, Tenn. "I have proved to an absolute certainty that Electric Bitters will positively cure this distressing condition. The first bottle gave me great relief and after taking a few more bottles, I was completely cured; so completely cured that it becomes a pleasure to recommend this great remedy." Sold under guarantee at Haynes and Taylor's drug store. Price 50c.

MOVING PICTURE MACHINE EXPLODES.

Paducah, March 20.—A stampede in the Kozy Electrical Theatre, following the explosion of a moving picture machine yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, resulting in the injury of the following.

Florro McCann age 15, Jerome Chapel 12 years old; Ruth Reems 14 year old, and John Baxter.

The film of the picture machine took fire causing the stampede. Children filled the theatre, having been admitted free. Corwin Luckmore, an actor, had to knock men down to get them from the door which they blockaded. Mary Farrell 17 years old, was pulled thru the ticket window by three men in time to prevent being crushed to death.

A Valuable Lesson

"Six years ago I learned a valuable lesson," writes John Pleasant, of Magnolia, Ind. "I then began taking Dr. King's New Life Pills, and the longer I take them the better I find them." They please everybody. Guaranteed at Haynes & Taylor, druggist 25c.

Lesson for Merchants.

There is a lesson for every merchant in the experience told by a representative of a Chicago mail order house to a gathering of newspaper men up in Iowa. He said that mail order business depended entirely upon advertising. He made one remark that "merchants should heed." He says that they take the local papers and directed their special efforts to communities where the merchants were not up-to-date advertisers. If the mail order man finds that any line of business in any town or city is not well advertised, as for instance furniture, he said that they flood that territory with their literature and always with satisfactory results. He believed it true. He said that country merchants could greatly cripple the mail order houses if they would advertise freely and in the right manner. He said that every advertisement should describe the articles to be sold and state the price. Here is food for thought by merchants who fear the effect of mail order-houses.

Neighbors Got Fooled

"I was literally coughing myself to death, and become too weak to leave my bed; and neighbors predicted that I would never leave it alive; but they got fooled, for thanks be to God, I was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It took just four one dollar bottles to completely cure the cough and restore me to good sound health," writes Mrs. Eva Uncapher, of Grovetown, Stark Co., Ind. This King of cough and cold cures, and healer of throat and lungs, is guaranteed by Haynes & Taylor, Druggist 50c.

A Novel Idea.

The wife of a well known artist when she entertains at dinner uses for table decorations little squares of white with gray red flowers, on which are set little trees made of branches of real leaves dipped in a preservative. The arrangement suggests an Italian garden. Half of the tiny trees are perfectly round, the others long, slender and pointed at the tops. Alternate trees have little garlands of bright red berries. In the others berries are put in here and there to give a touch of color. The arboreal favors were brought over from Germany by this economical young woman, who finds a dozen of them give a charming effect and save her from spending money on flowers.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is Both Agreeable and Effective

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has no superior for coughs, colds and croup, and the fact that it is pleasant to take and contains nothing in any way injurious has made it a favorite with mothers. Mr. W. S. Pelham, a merchant of Kirksville, Iowa, says: "For more than twenty years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been my leading remedy for all throat troubles. It is especially successful in cases of croup. Children like it and my customers who have used it will not take any other." For sale by J. H. Orme, the leading druggist in western Ky.

A Toast to Laughter.

Here's to laughter, the sunshine of the soul, the happiness of the heart, the heaven of youth, the privilege of purity, the echo of innocence, the treasure of the humble, the wealth of the poor, the head of the cup of pleasure; it dispels dejection, banishes blues, and mangles melancholy; for it's the foe of woe, the destroyer of depression, the enemy of grief; it makes kings envy the peasants, plutocrats envy the poor, the guilty envy the innocent; it's the sheen on the silver of smiles, the glint of the gold of gladness; without it humor would disappear, and smiles would shrivel, for it's glow of a clean conscience, the voice of a pure soul, the birth cry of mirth, the swan song of sadness. Laughter.—Life.

Clears The Complexion.

Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup stimulates the liver and thoroughly cleanses the system and clears the complexion of pimples and blotches. It is the best laxative for women and children as it is mild and pleasant, and does not gripe or sicken. Orino is much superior to pills, aperient waters and all ordinary cathartics as it does not irritate the stomach and bowels. J. H. Orme.

Piles get quick relief from Dr. Shoop's Magic Ointment. Remember its made alone for piles—and its works with certainty and satisfaction. Itching, painful protruding or blind piles disappear like magic by its use. Try it and see. Haynes & Taylor.

Health in the Canal Zone

The high wages paid make it a mighty temptation to our young artisans to join the force of skilled workmen needed to construct the Panama Canal. Many are restrained however by the fear of fevers and malaria. It is the knowing ones—those who have used Electric Bitters, who go there without this fear, well knowing they are safe from malarious influence with Electric Bitters on hand. Cures blood poison too! biliousness, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Guaranteed by J. H. Orme druggist, 50c.

Moody Offers His Cure.

Twilight L. Moody once called on a ministerial brother in an eastern town, desiring to spend the next day, Sunday, with him. The minister was agreeable, but said that he was ashamed to ask Moody to preach.

"Why?" asked Mr. Moody. "Well," was the reply, "our people have got such a habit of going out before the close of the meeting that it would be an imposition on a stranger."

"I will preach," said Moody. When Sunday arrived Mr. Moody opened the meeting, and then encouragingly said: "My hearers, I am going to speak to two sorts today—the sinners first, then the saints." After earnestly addressing the supposed sinners, he said that they could now take their hats and go. But the whole congregation waited and heard him to the end.—Boston Herald.

REV. JOHN JASPER

A Wonderful Preacher--Report of one of His Sermons.

In the Baptist Argus last week, Doctor Wm. E. Hatcher gives his impressions of a sermon preached by the noted colored preacher, John Jasper, of Richmond, Va.

Imagine a Sunday afternoon at his church—a fair, inspiring day. His house was thronged to overflowing. It was the funeral of two persons—William Ellison and Mary Barnes. The text is forgotten but the sermon is vividly recalled. From the start Jasper showed a burden and a boldness that promised rich things for his people.

At the beginning he betrayed some hesitation—unusual for him. "Lemme say," he said, "a word about dis William Ellersin. I say it at de fast an' git it off mer min'. William Ellersin was no good man—he didn't say he wus; he didn't try to be good, and da tell me he die as he live, 'out Gord an' out hope in de worl. It's a bad tale to tell on him, but he fix de story hisself. As de tree falls dar mus it lay. Ef you wants folks who live wrong to be preached and sung to glory, don't bring to Jasper. Gord confut the monur and warn de onruly."

"But my bruthrin," he brightened as he spoke, "Mary Barnes wus diffrunt. She wer wash'd in de blood of de Lam' and walk'd in white; her r'ligion wus of Gord. Yur could trust Mary anyhow; nuv'r cotch 'er in dem playhouses ner friskin' in dem dances; she wan' no street-walk'r traping roun' at night. She love de house of de Lord; her feet clung to de strait and narrer path; I know'd her. I seen her at de prammetin'—seed her at de preachin' and seed her tendin' de sick and helpin' de mounin' sinners. Our Sister Mary, good bye. Yer race is run but yer crown is showin'."

From this Jasper shot quite apart. He was full of fire, humor gleamed in his eye, and freedom was the bread of his soul. By degrees he approached the realm of death, and he went as an invader. A note of defiant challenge rang in his voice and almost blazed on his lips.

He escorted the Christian to the court of death, and demanded of the monster king to exhibit his power to hurt. It was wonderful to see how he pictured the high courage of the child of God, marching up to the very face of the king of terrors and demanding that he come forth and do his worst. Death on the other hand was subdued, slow of speech, admitted his defeat, and proclaimed his readiness to serve the children of Immanuel. Then he effected to put his mouth to the mouth of the grave and cried aloud: "Grave! Er Grave!" he cried as if addressing a real person, "Whar's yer vict'ry? I hur you got a mighty banner down dar, and you turruizes ev'rybody what comes long dis way. Bring out your armies and furl foth your banners of vict'ry. Show your han' an' let em see what you kin do." Then he made the grave reply, "Ain't got no vict'ry now; had vict'ry but King Jesus pars'd through dis country and told my banners down. He say his people shan't be troubled no mo' forev'r; an' he tell me ter op'n de gates and let 'um pass on dar way to glory."

"Oh, my Gord," Jasper exclaimed in thrilling voice, "did yer hur dat? My Master Jesus done jerk'd de sting of death; done broke de scept'r of de king of tur'r's, and he dun gone inter de grave and rob it uv its v'ictorious banners, and fixed nice and smooth for his people to pass through. Mo'en dat, he has writ a song, a shouting anthem for us to sing when we go thur, passin' suns and stars, and singing dat song. "Thanks be onter Gord—be onter Gord who give us de vict'ry thru de Lord Jesus Christ." Too well I know that I do scant justice to the greatness of Jasper by this inadequate outline of his transcendent eloquence. The whole scene, distinct in every detail was before the audience, and his responsive hearers,

Does Your Heart Beat

Yes. 100,000 times each day. Does it send out good blood or bad blood? You know, for good blood is good health; bad blood, bad health. And you know precisely what to take for bad blood—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Doctors have endorsed it for 60 years.

One frequent cause of bad blood is a sluggish liver. This produces constipation. Poisonous substances are then absorbed into the blood, instead of being removed from the body daily as nature intended. Keep the bowels open with Ayer's Pills, liver pills. All vegetable.

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of HAIR VIGOR. AGUE CURE. CHERRY PECTORAL.

were stirred into uncontrollable excitement. "My bruthrin," Jasper resumed very soberly, "I oft'n ax myself how I'd behave meself ef I was ter git ter heav'n. I tell you I would tremble de consequences. Eben now when I gits er glimpse—just a peep into de palis of de King it farly runs me ravin' stracted. What will I do ef I gits thar? I spec I'll make er fool of myself, 'cause I ain't got de pritty ways and nice manners my ole mars' Sam Hargrove used to have, but ef I git thar they ain't to put me out. Mars' Sam'll speak four me an' tell dem to teach me how to do. I sometimes think if I's lowed to go free, I spees to be free dar I tell you, b'lieve I'll jest do de town, walkin' an' runnin' all roun' to see de home which Jesus dun built for his people."

"Fust of all I'd go down an' see de River of Life. I lov's to go down now to de ole muddy James—mighty red an' muddy, but it goes 'long so gran' an' quiet like 'twas tennin to business, but dat aint nothin' to the river which flows by de throne. I longs fer its christal waves, an' de trees on de banks, an' de all mann'r of fruits. Dis ole head of mine oft'n gits hot with fever, aches all night an' rolls on de piller, an' I has many times desire to cool it in that blessed stream as it kisses de banks of dat upper Canaan. Bl'ssed be de Lord! De thought of seein' dat river, drinkin' its water an' restin' un'r dose trees—" Then suddenly Jasper began to intone a chorus in a most affecting way, no part of which I can recall except the last line: "Oh, wat mus it be to be thar."

"Af'r dat," Jasper continued with a quickened note, "I'd turn out an' view de beauties of de City—de home of my Father. I'd stroll up dem benuse where de children of Gord dwells an' view der mansions. Father Abraham, I'm sure he got a grate palis, an' Moses what 'seorted is no respect of age, and it is just as common a condition among children as it is with their parents. The condition is far more likely to reach an acute stage, develop seriously with the little folks, because of the difficulty in detecting it. Many a child has died from constipation, or illness arising from it, when it might have been saved by the timely use of

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

This is the greatest remedy known for correcting constipated conditions. Don't wait until your child is affected, but administer a dose of the medicine occasionally.

You will notice a perceptible change for the better, a healthy color and a livelier disposition.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a good thing to have in the house, because it is good for the whole family.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can be obtained in both dollar and half-dollar sizes from all druggists.

Your money will be refunded if it does not benefit you.

Your postal card request will bring by return mail our new booklet, "DR. CALDWELL'S BOOK OF WONDERS" and free sample to those who have never tried this wonderful remedy. Mothers write today.

de children of Israel out of bondage, thu de wilderness an' to de adge of de promised land, he must be pow'rful set up being such arman as he is; and David, de King dat made de pritty songs, I'd like to see 'is home, and Paul, de mighty scholar who got struck down out in de 'mascus road, I want to see his mansion, and all of 'em. Den I would cut round to de back streets and look for de little home whar my savior set my mother up to house-keepin' when she got thar I spee to know the house by de roses in de yard an' de vines on de podh."

As Jasper was moving at a feeling pace along the path of his thoughts, he stopped and cried: "Look dar; mighty sweet house, aint' it lovely?" Suddenly he sprang back and began to shout with joyous clapping of hands. "Look dar; see dat on de do; hallelujah, it's John Jasper. Said he was gwine to prepare a place for me; dar it is. Too good for a po sinner like me, but he built it for me, a turn-key job, an' mine forev'r." Instantly he was singing his mellow chorus ending as before with: "Oh, wat mus it be to be thar!"

From that scene he moved off to see the angelic host. There were the white plains of the heavenly Canaan—a vast army of angels with their bands of music, their different ranks and grades, their worship before the throne and their pealing shouts as they broke around the throne of God. The charm of the scene was irresistible; it lifted everybody to a sight of heaven and it was real to Jasper. He seemed entranced. As the picture began to fade uprose his inimitable chorus, closing as always: "Oh, wat mus it be to be thar!"

Then there was a long wait. But for the subdued and unworldly air of the old preacher—full seventy years old then—the delay would have dissolved the spell.

"An' now, frens," he said, still panting, and seeking to be calm, "ef yer'll excuse me, I'll tak er trip to de throne an' see de King in 'is roy'l garbints." It was an event to study him at this point. His earnestness and reverence passed all speech, and grew as he went. The light from the throne dazzled him from afar. There was the great white throne—there, the elders bowing in adoring wonder—there, the archangels waiting in silence for the commands of the King—there the King in his resplendent glory, there in hosts innumerable were the ransomed. In point of vivid description it surpassed all I had heard or read. By this time the old negro orator seemed glorified. Earth could hardly hold him. He sprang about the platform with a boy's alertness; he was unconsciously waving his handkerchief as if greeting a conqueror; his face was streaming with tears; he was bowing before the redeemer; he was clapping his hands, laughing, shouting and wiping the blinding tears out of his eyes. It was a moment of transport and unmatch'd wonder to everyone, and I felt as if it could never cease, when suddenly in a new note he broke into his chorus, ending with the soul-melting word: "Oh, wat mus it be to be thar!"

It was climax of climaxes. I supposed nothing else could follow. We has been up so often and so high we could not be carried up again. But there stood Jasper, fully seeing the situation. "My bruthren," said he as if in apology. "I dun forgot something. I got to take another trip. I aint' visit'd de ransom of de Lord. Can't slight dem. I knows heab ov 'em an, boun, ter see 'em."

In a moment he had us out on the celestial plains with the saints in line. There they were—countless and glorious. We walked the hold line and had a sort of universal handshake in which no note of time was taken. "Hur's Brer, Abul, de fust man what got hur; Hur's Brer, Enoch whar took a stroll and straggled inter glory; hur's ole Ligie whar had her er carriage sent fur 'im, an comed a nigher way frum de city." Thus we went on greeting patriarchs, prophets, apostles, msrtyrs, his brethren and loved ones gone before until suddenly he sprang back and raised a shout that fairly shook the roof: "Here she is; I know'd sh'd get hur—why,

Mary Barnes, you got home did yer?" A great handshake he gave her and for a moment it looked as if the newly glorified Mary Barnes was the center of Jasper's thoughts, but as if by magic, things changed and he was singing at the top of his voice the chorus which died away amid the shrieks and shouts of his crowd with his plaintive note: "Oh what mus it be to be thar!"

Jasper dropped exhausted into a chair and some chief singer of the old-time sort, in noble scorn of all choirs, struck that wonderful old song. "When death shall shake my frame," and in a moment the great building throbbed and trembled with the mighty old melody. It was sung only as Jasper's race can sing, and especially as only Jasper's emotional and impassioned church could sing it.

The stern old orator, brave as a lion, rich in humor, grim and a dreamer whose dreams were full of heaven has uttered his last message, and have gone within the veil to see the real of his dreaming. If the grapes of Eschol were so luscious to him here, "Oh, what must it be for him to be there!"

Do not Crowd The Season

The first warm days of spring bring with them a desire to get out and enjoy the exhilarating air and sunshine. Children that have been housed up all winter are brought out and you wonder where they all came from. The heavy winter clothing is thrown aside and many shed their flannels. Then a cold wave comes and people say that gripe is epidemic. Colds at this season are even more dangerous than in mid-winter, as there is much more danger of pneumonia. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, however, and you will have nothing to fear. It always cures, and we have never known a cold to result in pneumonia where it was used. It is pleasant and safe to take. Children like it. For sale by J. H. Orme the leading druggist in western Ky.

OCTOGENARIAN'S LONG TRIP

Winsted, Conn., March 19.—William Nettleton, Bristol's most sprightly octogenarian, unaccompanied, started on a pleasure trip of 10,000 miles by rail. Attention called to the numerous railroad disasters since the year began had no effect on him. He had planned to go he said, and he was going, if he got in a smash-up or not.

He will go direct to Phoenix, Ariz., where he will visit friends, then to California, from where he will go to Seattle, Wash., and then to Butte, where he is interested in the water company of that city. Mr. Nettleton will return sometime in the Spring if the railroads spare him.

Hunting for Trouble

"I've lived in California 20 years, and am still hunting for trouble in the way of burns, sores, wounds, boils, cuts, sprains, or a case of piles that Bucklen's Arnica Salve won't quickly cure," writes Charles Walters, of Alleghany, Sierra Co. No use hunting Mr. Walters; it cures every case. Guaranteed by Haynes & Taylor's 25c.

Post-Office Abolished.

Milton, Ky., March 20.—The post-office at Green, Ky., six miles below here, has been discontinued. The post-office building was washed away by the high water, and Postmaster F. L. Moreland immediately resigned. The postal authorities have been unable to get anyone to accept the place.

Neglected Colds Threaten Life

"Don't trifle with a cold," is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be vital in the case of a child. Proper food, good ventilation, and dry, warm clothing are the proper safeguards against colds. If they are maintained through the changeable weather of autumn, winter and spring, the chances of a surprise from ordinary colds will be slight. But the ordinary light cold will become severe if neglected, and a well established ripe cold is to the germs of diphtheria what honey is to the bee. The greatest menace to child life at this season of year is the neglected cold." Whether it is a child or adult, the cold slight or severe, the very best treatment that can be adopted is to give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is safe and sure. The great popularity and immense sale of this preparation has been attained by its remarkable cures of this ailment. A cold never results in pneumonia when it is given. For sale by Haynes & Taylor.

The New Pure Food and Drug Law

We are pleased to announce that Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs, colds and lung troubles is not affected by the National Pure Food and Drug law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and we recommend it as a safe remedy to children and adults.

Marion Milling Company's Products.

The makers name on a food article means a great deal to the consumer—also to the maker of the product if it has merit.

The name Marion Milling Co., stands back of it—it means that the maker is proud to use his name in connection with the product.

The names "ELK" and "CROWN" is on all the flour products of the Marion Milling Co., because the makers are positive their flour is clean, honestly made, wholesome and satisfactory and that the product is a credit to their name.

When you buy the Marion Milling Company's flour product you know what you are getting, and you know that their guarantee behind it means something.

When you order from your grocer specify the Marion Milling Company's Flour and help a home industry, and same will be appreciated by your friends.

Situations Guaranteed.

We do not guarantee situations to prospective students in order to get their patronage. Schools of merit do not resort to such dishonest practices. Fake schools "guarantee" situations in order to secure students, because they have no other inducements to offer. Our work is so thorough that a guarantee is superfluous. Business men are so eager to get competent help here that a large per cent. of our students take positions before they graduate. See us before making arrangements for your business and shorthand education at some inferior, fake school. We will take pleasure in telling you all about the loopholes in the "position guarantees" of dishonest schools. Catalogue free.

OF INTEREST

To All Suffering From Rheumatism, Kidney or Bladder Troubles.

For those who have Rheumatism, Kidney or Bladder Trouble of any kind, or fear that they are predisposed to any of these diseases, Dr. George Edmund Flood, the specialist on rheumatic diseases, gives us permission to publish the following simple but effective prescription which he uses in his practice, and to which he attributes his remarkable success: Fluid Cascara Aromatic, half ounce; Concentrated Barkola compound, one ounce; Fluid Extract Prickly Ash Bark, half drachm; Aromatic Elixir four ounces. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Plenty of good pure water should be drunk in addition so that the rheumatic poisons can be flushed from the system. Any druggist will put up the prescription or you may get the ingredients and mix them your self. The prescription is inexpensive, agreeable to take and, coming from such a successful specialist, is worthy a trial. 2

Man Drowns

Ashland, Ky., March, 29.—William Wilson, merchant of Murphysville, was drowned last night while driving along the river bank just west of town. The highway caved into the river, carrying Wilson with his horse and carriage into the water. The rig reached shore, but the merchant has not been seen since.

Safe, Sure and Speedy.

No external remedy ever yet devised has so fully and unquestionably met these three prime conditions as successful as Allcock's Plasters. They are safe because they contain no deleterious drug and are manufactured upon scientific principals of medicine. Guests at Sandringham.

At the English royal castle of Sandringham it is customary to weigh every guest on his arrival, as well as on his departure. The weight is carefully entered in a book, and the person weighed must sign his name. As the custom has been observed there for more than 40 years, the book of signatures has obtained considerable dimensions. Among the many signatures the book contains there are many celebrated names. The signatures that most frequently recur are those of Hartington and Devonshire, the former and present names of the Duke of Devonshire, who, as is well known, has been the king's most intimate friend. Lord Salisbury, once weighed 250 pounds.

MINING NOTES.

The Leander Mining Co., of Crittenden county is negotiating for a large increase in mineral rights expecting to close a deal this week giving them three large mineral tracts. They are now operating a 24 foot vein, rich with lead and silver ore, and as spring opens up they expect to work it stronger than ever before. Mr. Chas. Hina the popular salesman with J. M. Stone & Bro. is interested in this rich mine and is very much elated over their bright prospects. Mr. Hina is a deserving citizen and nothing would give us more pleasure than to hear of the mine he is interested in proving a Klondike.

696

The Keystone Mining and Mineral Company of Crittenden county is preparing for greater things this spring than ever before. After to a great extent working on uncertainties in the past to fully demonstrate just what the earth had in store for them, costing a great deal of money and much uneasiness, they have at last been rewarded. In going to the great depth to find the immensely rich vein of lead ore, of which we have a sample they were to a great extent of course trusting to luck and the shaft was not perpendicular nor in any means such as would prove of sufficient capacity to handle what has been their exceeding good fortune to find, but now they are preparing to put down a perpendicular shaft that in every way will prove ample for all demands. Our good friend J. D. Hopewell who is cashier of the old reliable Bank of Sturgis, is one of the principal stock holders in this mine and his friends are complimenting him on his good fortune. We are not in the least jealous of the hidden treasures of our neighboring counties being unearthed. As great, big hearted, and whole souled people live in Crittenden as can be found on earth. Hence our congratulations at her prosperity.—Sturgis News Democrat.

Dangers of Pneumonia

A cold at this time if neglected is liable to cause pneumonia which is so often fatal, and even when the patient has recovered the lungs are weakened, making them peculiarly susceptible to the development of consumption. Foley's Honey and Tar will stop the cough, heal and strengthen the lungs and prevent pneumonia. La Grippe coughs yield quickly to the wonderful curative qualities of Foley's Honey and Tar. There is nothing else "just as good" as H. Orme.

Longing for Country Life.

A strange thing is the universal longing of professional men and others who have come to the city and have prospered as they advance in life to set back to the country. It is seldom that they do not return and when they do there is often disappointment and things do not appear as they did long ago. The change is in the man himself, but he thinks it is in the country. Nevertheless, the desire to get back to the old country place to end one's days is very general. Sir Walter Scott refers to it and compares the course of a man through the world to that of the hare which is started from her lair and after a long chase and making a large circle ends by returning to the nest from which she started.

$5,000 Reward

will be paid to any person who can find one atom of opium, chloral, morphine, cocaine, ether or chloroform or their derivatives in any of Dr. Miles' Remedies. This reward is offered because certain unscrupulous persons make false statements about these remedies. It is understood that this reward applies only to goods purchased in the open market, which have not been tampered with. Dr. Miles' remedies cure by their strengthening and invigorating effect upon the nervous system, and not by weakening the nerves.

"I consider that there are no better remedies put up than Dr. Miles' Nerve, Anti-Pain Pills, and Nerve and Liver Pills. We have used them for years, and recommend them to many others. My wife is using the Nerve, and considers it the best medicine in the world. A lady friend of mine, who was almost a total nervous wreck, through my earnest solicitation has used several bottles of the Nerve with wonderful results."

AT BALTOFF'S STORE.

At eve when work has ceased its grind
And yielded respite to its knight,
While others seek the curbstone perch
To check the mad world in its flight—
Then gather harkwise round the door
The "natives" at the village store!

They loaf upon decrepit chairs,
Or balance nimbly on a box,
While others seek the curbstone perch
And rusticate upon the rocks.
Then "Captain Boags" he gets the floor
And edifies the village store!

There's Clark and Jones, and Willie Brown,
And several molders from "the works";
The city marshal joins the bunch,
Likewise the grocer and his clerks.
Then "General" Wood he lets 'em soar
In front of Baltuff's village store!

There's food and guffaw and hooded quips
Portending jokes that have been sprung
To agitate some hapless wight.
At whom the javelein is flung—
For everything is known—and more—
Copyright.

About Vic Baltuff's village store!
Then Slack he 'lows the corn will fail,
Which prompts Ol' Grandad Burr to guess:
"Th' crops is lookin' mighty well,
Fer which we all th' Lord should bless."
Then silence reprimands the bore
Who "sees things" at the village store!

The government is groomed and spanked
And made to stand up prim and straight:
"Judge" Haller, stopping for some plug,
Discusses "pints" of town and state—
His honor rules on benches four,
Yet deigns to argue at the store.

They sit and spit and smoke their pipes,
Grave strategists and sparkling wits;
Some hit the cracks and others don't.
Yet every man he sits and spits—
While time floats to the other shore,
And darkness hides the village store.

Old grocery shop, we love you yet,
Mid' railways of stone and steel,
And some day we will sit and spit
Beside thy fragrant onion peel—
"Just restin'" at the open door
Of that old, corner, village store.

Gotta git some eatin'
An' ret'n wif d' goods!

Summah's d' time
When to hunt am fine,
But Ah likes my coon
In d' wintah time!
Ah gits my gun
An' Ah hikes right out
Whar d' snow am deepes'
An' d' trees am stout;
An' Ah fills my gun
Frum my ol' cow's horn;
An' Ah gits Mister Coon,
Jes' as sure as yo' born!

Settin' heah a-dreamin'
Doan git no game!
Bettah rouse up
An' pu'sue dat same;
Fo' Dinah'll be lookin'
F' somethin' t' cook,
En' Ah dun bettah hurry
Er Ah dun git shook!
Ah'd laike t' sleep
Whar d' sun-flow' grow
Jes' sleep an' snooze
While d' sof' winds blow—
But I see gwine git huz
Et Ah doan hike soon,
Fo' Ah gotta git game
Fo' d' light of d' moon!

To remove a cough. Get at the cold which causes the cough. There is nothing so good as Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. Sold by J. H. Orme.

The News—No Pure Drug Cough Cure Laws would be needed, if all Cough Cures were like Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure is—and has been for 20 years. The National Law now requires that if any poisons enter into a cough mixture, it must be printed on the label or package.

For this reason mothers, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison-marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance, particularly with our children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and see. No poison-marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Simple refuse to accept any other. Sold by Haynes & Taylor.

Be very careful of your bowels when you have a cold. Nearly all other cough syrups are constipating, especially those containing opiates. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup moves the bowels—contains Opiates. Sold by J. H. Orme.
